The Welch Tin Plate Manufacturers Have Decided That They

THE TARIFF IS THEIR GREAT DREAD.

Laber Disputes Also a Fruitful Cause of Protracted Troubles.

(BY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH,] LIVERPOOL, March 23 .- [Copyright.]-There is much talk just now of various trusts. A corner has been firmly fixed in fire bricks and fire clay, and the iron makers and others who use these articles are already howling over an advance of 15 to 20 per cent in prices. The Coal Trust, which, with a capital of £100,000,000, was to have made the biggest American corner seem small, has not got beyond the stage of negotiation. Some of the greatest coal masters will have nothing to do with it, and it will visit he over the Fope for reconsideration in the Appeal of the Pope for reconsideration in the Appeal of the Pope for reconsideration. Italy's two allies, Germany and Austria, recognize the depressed condition of Italy and the fact that it cannot grow to be strong under its present anti-Papal policy, and are known to be in favor of the restoration of the Leonine City. Emperor Francis Joseph has never recognized the occupation and refuses to pay the makers and others who use these articles are will have nothing to do with it, and it will

NEED NOT WORRY. The fact is undensable, but it need not cause much alarm in America. The Staffordshire and Worcestershire people, who make chiefly large outside sheets, in which there is not excessive competition, would gladly combine, but they are powerless to influence the market seriously without the co-operation of South Wales, which they Green Goods Sharpers Get the Best of an are not likely to secure. The South Wales manufacturers would like nothing better than a big trust, but they have too many worries on their hands. Their rivalries are too bitter, their competition with each other too keen and the number of new works constantly being erected too many to permit of that absolute unity which alone would make the proposed scheme a success. courage those patriotic Americans who maintain that there is no sound reason why an article for which they pay millions of dollars a year should not be made in the United States. In public the manufacturers, United States. In public the manufacturers, especially the Welshmen, talk confidently of the impossibility of tin plates being made in America, because the manufacture involves an unusual proportion of hard labor, all the Americans are no good, but in establishment of the tin plate industry in the United States, South Wales would soon have to take second place. They are also perfectly well aware that the hand labor difficulty is all moonshine

Not a week passes in South Wales with-out a labor dispute, caused almost invariably by the attempts of the manufacturers to swindle the workmen out of fair wages Coercion and oppression are never absent from the tin plate trade, and were the men not fairly organized they would be utterly ground down. At the moment of cabling, the men engaged in a big manufactory at Morristown are out on a strike against a mean and cun-ning attempt by the employer to manipu-late prices in a manner which would transfer from the poor man's pocket to the rich man's purse something like $15,000 annually, and if the employer succeeds in this struggle it is estimated that the annual loss to Welsh workmen will amount to $500,-

PHILANTHROPIC MANUFACTURERS. Of course these philanthropic timplate makers do not want to add greatly to the price of plates. Their object is to render themselves independent of the wicked midespecially the bad Liverpool men who had for too long gained riches at their expense. At present this could be done comfortably by an increase of 1 shilling per box. Then, say these modest manufacturers, will follow the tinplate millenium.

The maker will get a fair return for his capital, the workmen will enjoy good wages and constant employment, and above all, there will be no more complaints from the United States about the quality of plates, because master and men will be with each other in producing the best possible article. Surely, it is argued, these bountiful bene-fits would be cheaply purchased for a shilling a box, an impost which the con-sumer would scarcely feel.

The Salt Trust people, however, said similar pretty things at first and have since raised prices 30 to 40 per cent.

HE EATS EIGHT DINNERS Wonderful Appetite of a Prisoner in Maryland Jall.

ELLICOTT CITY, MD., March 23 .- Among the prisoners now confined in the Ellicott City jail, awaiting trial at the present term of court, is a man named Darby, whose record as a gormandizer will eclipse by far that of any other person known here. Warden John Lilly says that Darby has occupied a cell in the institution since he has been in charge. Darby's appearance would indicate that a very small amount of food would suffice for so frail a frame, and that his dicastive sever issued under the seal of the fisherman is now in course of preparation by Leo XIII. This encyclical has already been noticed, and it was said to be intended as an argument for the maintenance of the peace of Europe, but according to my informant it will be an appeal to the European nations for a final settlement of the question of the temporal power.

Premier Crispi and the Italian Cabinet have long known that the Pope had such an idea in mind, and it was this knowledge that made them bring pressure to bear angainst Gladstone and keep him from visiting Rome and carrying out his intention of calling on the Pontiff. Crispi feared that Gladstone, who had been credited as favorable to the idea of arbitration, would sanction the scheme of His Holiness and that the appeal of the Pope would go before the world with the recommendation of an English statesman who, more than any other, had worked intermittingly for a united Italy.

The occupation of Rome was permitted by the European powers under certain conditions expressed in the Papal guarantees. These guarantees have been violated and the appeal of the Pope for reconsideration must receive attention. DISPLAY OF MILLINERY GOODS

Never before attempted in Pittsburg.

150 Finest Pattern Hats and Bonnets

We make strong claims for our Millinery Department, being convinced that the variety we show exceeds by far that of any other house in Pittsburg, without exception. All we ask of our friends is to compare our assortment with any shown elsewhere. The quality of our goods is of the very best. No one else sells better, while our prices will be found materially lower, in spite of the claims made by houses who, to draw trade, make ridiculous promises that they cannot carry out.

We shall in the future remain at the head of the Millinery business, as we have in the Our prices are the lowest. Our Goods are the past.

> ROSENBAUM & CO., 510, 512, 514 Market st. and 27 Fifth ave.

We have heard the above remark dozens of times made by ladies visiting our Millinery Department. We do not wonder at it much, for we have the very hand-somest display in the city. Mrs. Cahill, one of our artistic head milliners, well known to Pittsburg and Allegheay ladies for her taste and elegance in millinery, has re-returned from a three weeks' visit East, with the loveliest line of imported novelties imaginable. One of our leading hats is to be the "Marguerite," which comes in fine Milan and Tuscan straws; also in pretty tulies and laces. The Neapolitan Poke Bonnets, Toques and tight-fitting Hats come among the most desirable shapes and colors. Tulle and Lace Hats are going to be quite the thing this season. We have some lovely creations in both. The rich old Chantilly Laces are again in vogue. Crope d'Chene Embroideries come in exquisite patterns for Toques. We have a best-tiful lot in all pretty shades of the latest colors. Fine Geld Tinsel Laces still hold their own, and will be much worn, though Fancy Ribbons, in great varieties, seem to be the prevailing trimmings. We find the newest shades in early stock greens, view rose and early autumn browns take like wildfire. We are well prepared, however, to supply the demand. In flowers, we have imported sprays that are marvels of beanty. Have been mistaken for natural flowers, time and again, the deceptive art is so perfect. People touch and smell them before they realize it. We have decided on

During this week, due notice of which will appear in all the daily papers. We are going to show you one of the handsomest displays ever seen. All the above mentioned Hats, Bonnets, Ribbons, Laces and Flowers in a charming array. Everything to be new and original. Nothing copied. Our milliners' own ideas and designs. We know the many who have visited our Millinery Department during the past week will come again and again to view the the beautiful blendings of shapes, designs and colorings that are to be displayed at our opening.

One of the established features of this department is our "No charge for trimming when materials are purchased at our stores." Every one is familiar with it. It has been characteristic of our establishment, and we are going to continue it. It has proved a tremendous success. We want it distinctly understood that with us "NO CHARGE FOR TRIMMING" does not mean inferior work or careless trimming. On the contrary, the same care will be given to all orders alike, and the Superintendent of our Millinery Department has instructions that no order, however small, shall be slighted, and that no imperfect work shall leave our workroom. To emphasize this advertisement, let us repeat: First, we employ only first-class milliners; no cheap help admitted into this department. Second, no charge for trimming, and, what is more important, we do not make up for this by adding to the prices of ma-terials. Third, satisfaction guaranteed and work delivered promptly when promised. Fourth, ladies who wish to wait while their hats or bonnets are being trimmed, will find pleasant waiting rooms on our second floor, with toilet accommodations attached. Waiting made a pleasure instead of a bore.

No assortment so varied as ours; no prices so low as ours; no stores so attractive as ours; no clerks so attentive as ours in the whole city. Remember, no charge for trimming. Remember, we guarantee our work to be the best. Remember, we have a record of 20 years' honorable dealing. Several of our buyers are still East, but will return some time during the weak. We shall have a world of new noveities in each department then. At present a visit to our Hosiery and Underwear Departments would repay you. There has never been half so many pretty things as we are showing now. Have you seen the 75c Silk vests we are selling? Worth at least $1 25. Come in scarlet, pink, blue, salmon, old gold, lilac, cream and black. The choicest of colors.
All Silk, and being literally given away. Ready sales for them, and they will not last long. Hose in every color and combination you can think of. Real beauties in Fancy Lisles at 85c. In our Cloak Department the demand still continues. Our Spring Cloaks and Wraps are among the finest in the market. In Jerseys you will be undecided JUST WHAT YOU WANT. There are so many pretty styles and shades it is almost impossible to chose. Take your time though, and be satisfied be-
